GRANT'S ORDER CRITICISED.—The Cincinnati Inquirer, speaking of Grant's order, says: It is the crowning act of the Presidential usurpation. It is a confession that even with the lawless aid of the army, the republican party has been unable to carry the election, and now the entire military forces of the United States, headed by their General, are directed by the President to march upon the Southern States they have lost, to take possession of the ballot boxes and count the vote. This high-handed outrage is an admission that the States of Louisiana and Florida are lost to the republican party, and an advertisement is issued that the bayonet shall not only east but count the vote. This action is not only highly inflammatory but revolutionary. The American people love fair play. If these States are counted out forcibly by returning boards, backed by the army, there is commotion ahead.
